

The Board of Trustees are looking for our next Chief Executive...

Bolton CVS has evolved over the last 5 years and we're looking for the right person who can shape our strategy for the future, remaining totally focussed on our role as Bolton's local infrastructure organisation and providing funding, services, support and connectivity for Bolton's Voluntary, Community and Social Enterprise (VCSE) sector.

As Bolton's registered Volunteer Centre, a member of NAVCA, an Investor in People award holder and a delivery partner for the Bolton Mark, quality is important to the team. Our new Chief Executive will be someone that continues to ensure that we deliver a quality, accessible and inclusive offer for the VCSE sector in Bolton.

We are looking for an individual who can build effective relationships with partners, a person who can champion the important contribution of VCSE sector organisations and equally importantly, someone who can ensure that the principles of good volunteering and 'grants for good' are at the heart of everything that we do.

We are looking for an individual to:

- champion the voice of our members and the wider VCSE sector in all that we do.
- be a strategic champion for community action.
- develop our grants programme so we're able to support others to do more good.
- demonstrate a commitment to social justice and inclusion for all.
- tell a good story about the difference that community action makes.
- support and develop our dedicated team of staff and volunteers.

What you'll need if you're applying for this role:

- the ability to plan strategically and operate at a very senior level.
- a strong understanding of the VCSE sector and associated policy.
- an ability to identify opportunities to work collaboratively.
- be skilled in writing a compelling funding bid and project proposals.
- a track record in developing place-based community action initiatives.
- an ability to lead and involve a diverse group of passionate stakeholders.
